2009 SWATCH FIVB Junior World Championships

After staging "open" international Beach Volleyball events in Acapulco and Rosarito, Mexico will host the 2009 SWATCH FIVB World Championships for players under the age of 21 in Monterrey September 2-6. The capital city of the northeastern Mexican state of Nuevo León, Monterrey is an industrial and business center with a population of 1.1 million as the metropolitan has over 3.8 million residents. The city has hosted several international events, including 1986 FIFA World Cup games. The mountains surrounding Monterrey contain canyons, trails and roads crossing deserts and forests. The Sierra Madre Oriental mountains south of the city are included in the "Parque Nacional Cumbres de Monterrey" (National Park), which was added to UNESCO's Man and the Biosphere (MAB) Program of Biosphere Reserves in 2006.

A North American country, Mexico becomes the first nation to stage a U-21 Beach Volleyball event within the NORCECA confederation (North, Central America and Caribbean Volleyball Confederation). Seven of the first eight U-21 world championship events were held within the European confederation (CEV), including tournaments in England (Brighton 2008), France (Le Lavandou 2001 and Saint Quay Portrieux 2003), Italy (Catania 2002 and Modena 2007), Poland (Myslowice 2006) and Portugal (Porto Santo 2004). The South American confederation hosted the 2005 event in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Of the eight previous SWATCH FIVB World Championships for players under 21 years old, Brazilians have captured three men's and six women's titles. Pablo Herrera, who won the 2002 U-21 title for Spain with Raul Mesa, captured the silver medal at the Athens 2004 Olympic Games with Javier Bosma. Martins Plavins and Aleksandrs Samoilovs, the 2005 U-21 champions from Latvia, placed ninth at the Beijing 2008 Olympic Games. The Latvians upset eventual 2008 Olympic gold medal winners Phil Dalhausser and Todd Rogers of the United States in their first Beijing match. Brazilian Pedro Salgado, the 2008 SWATCH FIVB World Tour champions with Harley Marques, captured the 2003 and 2006 U-21 titles with Pedro Cunha and Bruno Oscar Schmidt, respectively.

Russian Alexandra Shiryaeva, who competed in Beijing 2008 Olympic Games, captured the gold medal at the 2003 women's U-21 world championships with Anna Morozova. The Schwaiger sisters (Doris and Stefanie), who placed fifth at the Beijing Summer Games for Austria, claimed the bronze medal at the 2005 U-21 championships.

Francesco Giontella and Paolo Nicolai of Italy won their second U-21 title in 2008 after claiming the title in 2007 when the event was held in Modena, Italy. At the 2006 U-19 in Berumda, Giontella and Nicolai claimed the silver medal with compatriots Matteo and Paolo Ingrosso placing third for Italy. The Ingrossos captured the 2008 U-21 bronze medal.

Marleen Van Iersel realized her gold medal aspirations at a SWATCH FIVB Junior/Youth World Championship event as she teamed with Dutch partner Daniëlle Remmers to capture the 2008 U-21 title for women. Van Iersel was playing in her ninth FIVB Junior/Youth world finale since first competing internationally for the first-time in 2003. A bronze medal winner at the past two worlds for players under the age of 21 with Marloes Wesselink in Italy and Poland, Van Iersel was teaming with Remmers on a FIVB podium for the second-time as the pair was second at the 2006 U19s in Bermuda.

2008 SWATCH FIVB Youth World Championships

Turkey returns to the international Beach Volleyball calendar as the Mediterranean seaside resort city of Alanya hosts the 2009 SWATCH FIVB World Championships for players under 19 years old. The eighth annual event will be August 19-23 in Alanya, which is located on the Gulf of Antalya and is situated between the Taurus Mountains to the north and the Mediterranean Sea. The 2009 U-19 gold medal team will be rewarded a “wild card” by the FIVB for a future SWATCH FIVB World Tour event during the final months of the 2009 or in 2010.

With a population of more than 400,000, Alanya is part of the Turkish Riviera. The relatively moderate Mediterranean climate, natural attractions, and historic heritage makes Alanya a popular destination for tourism, and responsible for nine percent of Turkey's tourism sector and thirty percent of foreign purchases of real estate in Turkey.

“These events have been critical to create a new generation of Beach Volleyball athletes,” said Angelo Squeo, the FIVB Beach Volleyball Events Director. “In a few years, these players will challenge for SWATCH FIVB World Tour medals and vie for berths in future Olympic Games. The winners of these events will also be rewarded by the FIVB and the respective organizers with wild cards and free transportation to take part in the main draw of a SWATCH FIVB World Tour event in 2009 or 2010.”

While Brazilians dominated the FIVB U-21 competition, the U-18/19 has seen the medal and “final four” count almost evenly distributed among 20 countries. The German men and women have each captured two gold medals along with two Dutch women teams. The Polish team of Michal Kadziola and Jakub Szalankiewicz gave their country the lead on the men's medal list by capturing the 2007 U-19 title. Estonia claimed its first junior/youth world championship medal in 2008 as the men's team of Kristo Kollo and Oliver Venno claimed the title.

Germany, which was denied a women's podium placement for the first-time in 2007, rebounded in 2008 as Chantal Laboureur and Levke Spinger won the gold medal. The Netherland's Danielle Remmers and Michelle Stiekema claimed the 2007 title as the Dutch team of Sanne Keizer and Arjanne Stevens won the first-ever women's gold medal when the competition was for players under the age of 18. The age for the competition was changed in 2005 for players under the age of 19.

XXX OLYMPIAD, LONDON 2012

Horse Guards Parade

Saturday, July 27 through August 12

Women's Medal Matches - TBD

Men's Medal Matches - TBD

With the qualification period for Beach Volleyball at the London 2012 Olympic Games to be determined, the site for the fifth renewal of the Summer Games competition will be Horse Guards Parade. The facility dates from 1745 and takes its name from the soldiers who have provided protection for the monarch since the restoration of the monarchy in 1660. The parade ground lies at the heart of London's ceremonial life, and hosts the Trooping of the Colour event that takes place on the Queen's official birthday each year. Horse Guards Parade lies at the heart of Whitehall, the political centre of the United Kingdom. It is close to Downing Street and across St James' Park from Buckingham Palace. It is a short walk from Trafalgar Square and easy to get to by tube, bus or on foot from the city centre. A temporary arena will be built in 2012 for 15,000 spectators, with sand brought in to create London's very own "beach". The temporary facilities will be taken down after the Games.

Jinshan Beach has been the site of the international tour stop in Shanghai since 2004 with the 2009 event being the fifth-straight season of double gender competition. July 6-12, 1to1 Energy Grand Slam, Gstaad, Switzerland, Men & Women, $600,000 - The SWATCH FIVB World Tour returns to Switzerland for the 10-straight season as the village of Gstaad hosts men and women in the first post-world championship event on the 2009 international Beach Volleyball calendar. Gstaad was the site of the 2007 SWATCH FIVB World Championships along with hosting the first event following the conclusion of the qualifying process for the Beijing 2008 Olympic Games. Brazilian pairs captured the 2008 gold medals as the teams of Harley Marques/Pedro Salgado and Shelda Bede/Ana Paula Connelly won their first-ever SWATCH Grand Slam events. The Gstaad stop on the SWATCH FIVB World Tour started with women's competition in 2000 followed by the first double gender event the next year. The 2007 stop featured the $1-million SWATCH FIVB World Championships where the American teams of Misty May-Treanor/Kerri Walsh and Phil Dalhausser/Todd Rogers captured the women's and men's gold medals, respectively. The men's 2007 podium marked the first-time that a Brazilian team did not win a medal as reigning Olympic champions Emanuel Rego and Ricardo Santos dropped "final four" matches to Dalhausser/Rogers and Andrew Schacht/Joshua Slack, who became the first men's team from Australia to medal in the SWATCH FIVB World Championships. Swiss men's teams have medaled twice, including a title in 2004 by Patrick Heuscher and Stefan Kobel. Simone Kuhn and Lea Schwer placed fifth at the 2008 stop for the highest finish by a Swiss women's team in Gstaad. Previously, Kuhn posted the best placements with four ninth-place finishes, including two each with Nicole Schnyder-Benoit (2002 and 2003) and Lea Schwer (2005 and 2006).

It was the women's first-ever event in the Russian capital while the men were visiting Moscow for the first-time since back-to-back events 1998 and 1999. Team from China and the United States snapped Brazilian gold medal streaks as the men's and women's teams from the South American country captured each of the gold medals in St. Petersburg with three different men's champions while Juliana Felisberta Silva and Larissa Franca claimed all three women's titles. Russia's first appearance on the SWATCH FIVB World Tour calendar was in 1994 for the Goodwill Games in St. Petersburg where teams from Norway and the United States captured the men's and women's gold medal, respectively. Dmitri Barsouk and Igor Kolodinsky, the most successful Russian team in SWATCH FIVB World Tour history, placed second at the 2007 St. Petersburg event. The top finishes by Russian women's teams on home sand were sevenths by Natalya Belousova/Mariya Kopylova (1994) and Alexandra Shiryaeva/Natalya Uryadova (2007).

July 14-20, World Series 13 Grand Chelem, Marseille, France, Men & Women, $600,000 - Marseille will break a tie with Rio de Janeiro in hosting the most SWATCH FIVB World Tour events as the Mediterranean port city has staged an international Beach Volleyball tournament every year since 1994, except in 2005 when the organizer was developing a stop in Paris. The 15th event in Marseille is also a SWATCH Grand Slam stop. While the men have completed in each Marseille event with Brazilians securing 20 podium placements and 12 gold medals, the 2009 women's event will be Event No. 12 in the French port. Only Osaka (13) has staged more women's SWATCH stops than Marseille. Stephanie Pohl and Okka Rau's Marseille gold medal finish was the first-ever by a German women's team in SWATCH FIVB World Tour history. The 2007 gold medal by with Pedro Cunha by Franco Neto (40 years, eight months, 11 days) made the Brazilian the oldest player to win a SWATCH event. Women's teams from Brazil and the United States have split the previous 10 titles. France's top finish by a men's team was in 1994 when Jean-Philippe Jodard and Christian Penigaud dropped the title match to Jan Kvalheim and Bjorn Maaseide of Norway in the first all-European finale on the SWATCH FIVB World Tour. Ethel-Julie Arjona and Virginie Kadjo had posted ninths in Marseille (2003 and 2004) for France's best women's finishes as a host country entry with Deborah Giaoui and Eva Hamzaoui matching the feat in 2008.
