(Fig. 21-33)

One step forward. Bend body forward and pull leg, with arms touching knee, to chest.
(Fig. 21-34)

Do all stretching exercises for 10 seconds each.

5. Examples of Cooling Down Exercises

a. Relaxation Stretching Exercises

Pair up two players to help each other relax from mental tension in training and games.

One player sits on floor. Pull arms back.
(Fig. 21-35)

Partner pulls arms back and upward.
(Fig. 24-36)

Arms to side and pull back.
(Fig. 21-37)

Swing back one arm. Have partner pull this hand down.
(Fig. 21-38)

Place both hands behind head. Touch elbow and turn body to the side.
(Fig. 21-39)
Bend body forward extending both legs. Partner pushes back.
(Fig. 21-40)

Keep prone position. Partner raises both legs.
(Fig. 21-41)

With partner bending over, lie across partner bending body back.
(Fig. 21-42)

Stand on hands and bend backward with partner helping.
(Fig. 21-43)

Look behind you clasping both hands and pull each other.
(Fig. 21-44)

From prone position, bend knee. Push with both ankles and swing legs.
(Fig. 21-45)

Same as above, but stretch ankles.
(Fig. 21-46)

Swing legs in supine position together.
(Fig. 21-47)

Swing arms in supine position with partner.
(Fig. 21-48)

Sit on the floor bending both legs, touch each heel. Partner pushes both knees to the floor.
(Fig. 21-49)

In all cooling-down stretching, go slowly in relaxed conditions. Stop the limitations of movements before players feel pain. These exercises will promote recovery from fatigue and improve player flexibility.

b. Adjustment of Length of Legs

One player lies on the floor in a natural relaxed posture. Then compare the length of both legs keeping ankles at 90 degrees.
(Fig. 21-50)

If you find a difference in length, it is a body disorder caused by imbalance of waist and backbone.

In this case, we should use the following remedies:

1) Bend short leg, touching knee to body. Then partner stretches and pulls leg upward.
(Fig. 21-51, 21-52)

2) Bend short leg and push knee outward. (5 to 6 times).
(Fig. 21-53)

3) Pull short leg upward keeping in prone position. Do not pull too strongly.
(Fig. 21-54)

c. Sports Massages for Volleyball Players

Order of Sports Massages

Soft Stroke Methods
Hard Stroke Methods
Pushing Methods by Palm or Finger
Rubbing Methods or Swing Methods
Soft Hitting Methods or Compressing Methods

Back Muscles

Open hand. Stroke lightly from waist to back.
(Fig. 21-55)

Back of Thigh

Stroke lightly from back of knee to hip with light stroke method.
(Fig. 21-56)

Inside and Front of Thigh

Open thumb and second finger. Stroke from knee upward
(Fig. 21-57)
Lower Legs (forward)
Open thumb and second finger. Rub upward in circular motion.
(Fig. 21-58)

Lower Legs (backwards)
Push and rub from achilles tendon to back of knee
(Fig. 21-59)

Hip
Open hand and swing hip left and right.
(Fig. 21-60)

Neck and Shoulder
Push sides of neck with both thumbs. Then push and rub the neck using thumb and second finger. Then move to shoulders. Some times light tapping will be effective on this part.
(Fig. 21-61)
Achilles Tendon

Firmly stroke achilles tendon from heel upwards with both thumbs.
(Fig. 21-62)

Upper Arms

Lightly stroke from elbow to shoulder, then try rubbing.
(Fig. 21-63)

d. Vital Points for Massages

We should know the special vital areas of massage when we discover fatigue or symptoms shown in the table.

Effective Vital areas according to symptoms.

Total Body Fatigue
1, 7, 15, 16, 17, 19, 20, 22, 23, 26, 27, 31, 33, 34, 38, 39, 40, 42, 43, 45, 46, 47, 55, 65, 67, 70, 71.
